School of Chinese	From page to stage: A workshop on drama adaptation and translation 劇本翻譯工作坊	CHIN2346 (6 credits)
	The adaptation of literary classics into staged dramas productions can be an extremely rewarding pedagogic exercise. It not only demands from students an in-depth reading of the original text, but also writing and analytical skills, an understanding of the basics of drama performance, as well as familiarity with the principles of translation. Throughout this course, students will not only be trained in the above areas, but they may also have the opportunity of watching a performance and applying what they have learned during the course.
School of Chinese	Legal Interpreting 法律口譯 This course provides an overview of the legal system of Hong Kong and familiarises students with trial procedures, characteristics of legal English, common terms pertaining to trial proceedings, as well as principles and protocols associated with the practice of interpreting in the legal system. This is a workshop-based course supplemented by lectures and a court visit to observe court interpreters at work.	CHIN2343 (6 credits)
	The weekly workshop practice uses as the training materials authentic audio recordings of court proceedings of nine criminal trials, to which access has been granted by the High Court Registrar for teaching and research purposes. Students will practise sight-translating of legal texts and other court-related documents, and interpreting — consecutively or simultaneously as appropriate — courtroom speeches, including witness testimony, submissions by counsel, jury instructions and court judgments, and sight-translating legal texts and court-related documents.
	Students will participate in visits to law courts to observe interpreter-mediated trials and are required to submit an observation report on the trials they have observed and comment on the performance of the interpreters.

School of Modern Languages & Cultures (American Studies)	Internship American Studies Internship The internship course provides top American Studies students with an opportunity to gain valuable working experience in an American business or non-governmental organization. During the semester prior to the internship (internship duration must be at least three weeks full time or comprise a minimum of 120 hours part-time), students will pursue individualized research related to the industry of their hosting organization under the supervision of a mentor, typically (though not necessarily) an American Studies Programme instructor or board member. Through readings students will study theoretical frameworks from American Studies disciplines that are suited to analyzing the industry in question. Students will present their preparatory research in a short essay, which includes their expectations for the internship. During the internship, students will write a journal in which they reflect critically on their day-to-day experiences. To conclude, students write a second essay after the internship in which they summarize their experiences and compare them to their expectations as stated in the first essay. The host institution's evaluation of the intern's performance will be included in the assessment. The final essay shall be submitted no later than two weeks following the completion of the internship. Please note: Although we will do our best to assist you in your search, students are responsible for obtaining the internship position and must present the internship offer by the last day of the add/drop period to the programme director of American Studies. All students who fail to fulfill this requirement will automatically be dropped from the course.	AMER3008 (6 credits)
